Reflections by Fr. Gary Luiten

Reflections on the Gospel for the 14th Sunday in Ordinary Time
July 6th, 2025

Ever have one of those days when nothing seemed to go right and you seemed to fail at everything? In the gospel today, Jesus speaks about a couple different elements of the Christian life including failure as well. First, Jesus pointed out that the further seventy-two appointed by him would fail to some extent in making a spiritual connection with people they would visit. Second, Jesus talks about is the vocation to which we are called, specifically, to spread the Good News.

Jesus states in today's gospel, "Whatever town you enter and they do not receive you, go out into the streets and say, 'the dust of your town that clings to our feet, even that we shake off against you.'" The one thing that the Evil One wants us to do when we fail in some of our tasks such as keeping the commandments, is to get discouraged and lose all hope. At times, failure is going to happen. Sometimes people come to confession thoroughly discouraged and near despair upon confessing their sins. Then I ask them to also think of the many good things they did. It helps them realize that they aren't such bad people after all. Each of us should remember the good things that we do from time to time. Certainly, when we sin, we are called to ask God's forgiveness, whether it be with the Sacrament of Penance for mortal sins or an act of sorrow for small sins. And this is a picking up of ourselves, shaking the dust off, and moving on!

This brings us to the context in which Jesus' words on failing to connect spiritually with others, and that is vocations, the calling to a life of God's service. In one sense, we all have a religious vocation which is the calling to follow Jesus and be members of His church. But, when we talk about religious vocations in the narrow sense, we mean a calling to the priesthood, diaconate, brotherhood, or sisterhood. Jesus used the first part of the gospel as a way to help me decide on what vocation God was calling me to when He said, "The harvest is plenty, but laborers are few..." This was like a neon sign saying, "I want you to work in my vineyard, devoting your whole life to the ministry of the Word and the Sacraments."

So, may we all do our part to encourage and pray for religious vocations in our homes and families. May we be like the seventy-two in working to spread the gospel message by what we say and what we do, and may we never get discouraged in our spiritual work.

International Pilgrimage Site

Santiago de Compostela,

Cathedral of Santiago do

Compostela, Spain. The Camino de Santiago ("The Way of St. James") is a network of ancient walking paths that lead to the Cathedral of Santiago de Compostela in Spain, the burial place of St. James the Greater, one of Jesus' Apostles. The most popular route extends 500 miles, where thousands complete the journey each year.

On, God, as we walk in the love of your name to Santiago de Compostela, be for us our companion on the walk, our guide at the crossroads, our protections in danger, our light in the darkness, so that with your guidance we may arrive, safe and sound, at the end of the road. Amen

CATHOLIC VIRTUES part 1 of 3:

We all think we have virtues, but so many people can't name more than a few of them. In the Catholic Church, there are three very distinct categories of virtues which we all should be praying to have more of. The first category is known as the Cardinal Virtues, the second is known as the Theological Virtues, and the third is the Capital Virtues.

The Cardinal Virtues

The Cardinal Virtues are four moral virtues that are the foundation for the others. Cardinal comes from the Latin "cardo", which means "hinge." The Cardinal virtues can all be acquired through practice, and by observing others who are older and wiser than you are. All other virtues hinge on the following four Cardinal virtues:

Prudence: St. Thomas Aquinas once said that prudence was the primary cardinal virtue, because it is concerned with the intellect. Prudence is basically the ability to distinguish what is good and bad in any given situation, and to take appropriate action. For instance, if you are in a big hurry on the freeway, and you know that you are in an area closely monitored by the police for speeding, it would not be prudent to go faster than the speed limit.

Justice: St. Thomas Aquinas ranked Justice as the second Cardinal Virtue, because it deals with the will. Justice is the virtue that demands that we give everyone exactly what is due them.

For instance, if the cashier gives you too much change back at the counter after a purchase, justice says that you must give back the extra money, if you know about it. And since justice is concerned with rights, it is very important to remember that natural rights always come before legal rights, as in the right to life of babies.

Fortitude: Another word for fortitude is courage. In the Christian sense, fortitude is the virtue that allows us to overcome our fears and continue in our Christian tasks. For instance, the 12 Apostles before Pentecost were hiding in fear of the Jews. After Pentecost, the Apostles boldly spoke out and were imprisoned for their outspoken beliefs in Christ. So here we see that fortitude is not only an acquired virtue, but it is also one of the 4 Cardinal virtues that the Holy Spirit can give us, as well.

Temperance: This virtue is one we all could use more of today. Temperance is concerned with the restraint and moderation of our desires for food, sex, pleasure, and drink. Where prudence dictates our actions based on externals, temperance dictates our actions based on internals. There is nothing wrong with procreational sex in marriage, or eating food, or enjoying legitimate pleasure or drink, of course, but when they start to own our will, instead of our will owning them, then we will experience the devil's compensation of VD, unwanted pregnancy, obesity, sloth, or hangovers.
